navigating the unknown

virtual or in-person summer camps

Who would have ever thought that would be something we would be discussing? After keeping our kids home, for the better part of the last 3 months, who would have ever thought that this would be an option for some parents? (I know I want to send mine off to the woods or the mountains to be one with nature for the better part of a month!) But, reality is, some parents are not comfortable sending their kids back out into the world, yet.

Whatever your philosophy is at this time, it's okay.

It's okay for you to choose which path your family will take without judgement or ridicule.

Luckily, due to the current environment, there are many options for you to choose from.
(And more coming available daily)

We have compiled the latest information available from our advertisers to offer you the most up-to-date directory of both day and overnight, local and out-of-town camps. As always, we recommend you visit the Houston Family and individual advertisers' websites for the daily updates that are sure to happen throughout the summer.

Either way you go, it is our hope that your child finds ways to spend time with friends, broaden their minds and strengthen their bodies while having a little bit of fun! It is summertime, after all!

Camps offering both VIRTUAL ONLY and VIRTUAL & IN-PERSON options are noted throughout.

enjoy your summer
